

By The Associated Press

LONDON, June 6--The Berlin radio said today that "combined British-American landing operations against the western coast of Europe from the sea and air are stretching over the entire area between Cherbourg and Le Havre."

The broadcast declared that grand scale amphibious operations are under way on a broad front between the mouth of the Seine and the estuary of the river Vire.

"A large number of allied landing boats of various types and light allied naval forces in considerable strength are taking part," Berlin added.

"Six heavy allied warships and 20 destroyers are off the mouth of the Seine."

The river Vire empties into the Atlantic 30 miles southeast of Cherbourg, indicating that the invasion was occurring all along the northern side of the Normandy peninsula stretching along the bay of the Seine between Cherbourg and Le Havre.

FIERCE FIGHTING AT CAEN

"Fierce fighting against allied forces in the Caen area," 10 miles inland from the Normandy coast and 30 air line miles southwest of Le Havre, was reported by the Germans.

Caen is near the base of the Cotentin or Normandy peninsula. Cherbourg is at the tip of the peninsula.

"Considerable parts of the parachute units on the Normandy peninsula and on the river mouths were wiped out," Berlin said.

The first British parachute division was declared badly mauled.

Another Berlin "flash" said the "first center of gravity is Caen," the big city at the base of the Normandy peninsula.

The base of this peninsula is 75 miles across between Caen and Avranches, and the same distance on a line extending northward to Cherbourg at the tip.

Caen is 120 miles west-northwest of Paris.

The Germans also said allied warships were furiously battering the big German-held French port of Le Havre 60 miles south of the Seine river, 100 miles west of Paris.

German shock troops also were hurled against allied troops rushing ashore from landing barges, the broadcasts said. Le Havre lies 80 miles across the channel from the British coast.

Bombers Hit Calais and Dunkerque

Dunkerque and Calais, just across the channel coast from Britain, were under attack by strong formations of bombers, DNB said.

The long-expected invasion by the British and Americans began in the first hours of the morning of June 6 by the landing of parachute troops in the area of the mouth of the Seine," declared the Transocean broadcast.

The Blue network in New York said it had recorded a broadcast this morning warning Frenchmen that a aerial warfare phase had begun and telling them to ready for further instructions to be dropped by leaflets.

The German DNB agency said Le Havre was being bombarded at the present moment" (7 a. m. German time, or 1 a. m. eastern war time).

German naval forces are engaged in fighting with landing craft off the coast.

Calais and Dunkerque are also important French ports on the invasion coast 150 miles northeast of Le Havre.

The German broadcasts on the "long-expected invasion" by the allies were relayed both to North America and to Germans in the homeland. The latter were told by DNB's domestic broadcasts at dawn.

It is believed that these paratroops," said the German broadcast, "have been given the task of capturing airfields in order to facilitate the landing of further paratroops."

At 7 a. m. (1 a. m. E. W. T.) the Transocean broadcast was followed by this broadcast by DNB, official German news agency. It said,

"The invasion started in the first hours of the morning of June 6 with parachute troops landing in the mouth of the Seine area (Le Havre)."

After the Transocean and DNB German agencies had announced the "invasion," one of DNB subsidiaries, the Interim (International Information Bureau) took to the air with this announcement:

"Anglo-American parachute troops are bailing out on the northern tip of the Normandy peninsula to capture several airfields in order to make room for further landings of parachute troops."

First Report at 12:30 E. W. T.

The first broadcast was recorded shortly after 6:30 a. m. (12:30 a. m. eastern war time).

The German agency said the allied "invasion operations" began with the landing of air-borne troops in the area of the mouth of the Seine river.

The Seine river empties into the Atlantic at Le Havre after winding northwestward through France from the capital at Paris.

The allies have been battering the French channel coast, of which Le Havre is a part, for months now as a prelude to invasion.

Le Havre is one of the most important ports in France. It has great dock areas which would be suitable for the allied invasion, once they seized.

High chalk cliffs lie north of the town.

This is the "year of decision" which Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, allied supreme invasion commander, has set for the defeat of Germany.

With allied armies rolling forward above Rome in Italy, and the Red army massed with its might on the plains of Poland, the Germans have been expecting an imminent invasion by upwards of 500,000 allied troops.

These troops have been poised for months in England for just such a blow.

The world's greatest aerial bombardment has been rolling for months, blasting key communication lines leading to the coast, blowing up bridges, shattering locomotives, and keeping the Nazis guessing where the blow would fall.

Nazi strength is formidable in western France, where Berlin has said the main blow would come this summer.

It has been estimated at 40 to 50 divisions--from 600,000 to 750,000 men, and other powerful forces are held in rear reservoirs for ready shuttling to the coast.

The allies have massed air-borne troops, of which the German broadcast spoke in impressive numbers.

There are paratroopers, glider-borne troops, and regular airborne infantrymen.

Air Troops Lead Attack

It has been expected that paratroopers would spearhead the main allied attack, landing inland to dynamite bridges and obstruct the rush of Nazi reinforcements.

ALLIES INVADE EUROPE

By The Associated Press

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, Allied Expeditionary Force, June 6--American, British and Canadian troops landed in northern France this morning, launching the greatest overseas military operation in history with word from their supreme commander, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, that "we will accept nothing except full victory" over the German masters of the continent.

The invasion, which Eisenhower called "a great crusade," was announced at 7:32 a. m., Greenwich mean time (3:32 a. m., eastern war time) in this one-sentence communiqué No. 1:

"Under the command of General Eisenhower, allied naval forces supported by strong air forces began landing allied armies this morning on the northern coast of France."

It was announced moments later that Britain's Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery, hero of the African desert, was in charge of the assault.

The locations of the landings were not announced.

Eisenhower himself wished godspeed to the paratroopers who were the first to land on the enemy-held soil of France.

For three hours previous to the allied announcement the German radio had been pouring forth a series of flashes reporting that the allies were landing between Le Havre and Cherbourg along the south side of the bay of the Seine and along the north coast of Normandy.

SOUTH OF BRITISH PORTS

This would be across the channel and almost due south of such British ports as Hastings, Brighton, Portsmouth and Bournemouth.

The Germans also said paratroopers had descended in Normandy and were being engaged by Nazi troops.

The landings had been in progress several hours before the allied communiqué was issued.

Allied soldiers leaped onto the shores which the Germans have spent nearly four years in fortifying, while allied planes and ships hurled into those defenses barrages which the Nazis admitted were terrific.

The fleet included several battleships, which the Germans said set the whole Seine bay area ablaze with their fire.

The Germans announced also that American reinforcements began landing at dawn, aided by artificial fog, and that in some places dummy paratroopers were dropped to confuse the defense.

An Associated Press correspondent flying over the French coast in a B-26 Marauder reported seeing the fields inland strewn with hundreds of parachutes and dotted with gliders, while great naval forces fired into the coast fortifications.

In a special order of the day issued to all soldiers, sailors and airmen under his command, Gen. Eisenhower said:

"We will accept nothing except full victory." Eisenhower told his men they were "embarking

INVASION BULLETINS

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, June 6--The OWI reported today this statement by Gen. Eisenhower was broadcast by allied radios in London:

"People of western Europe! A landing was made this morning on the coast of France by troops of the allied expeditionary force. This landing is part of the concerted United Nations' plan for the liberation of Europe, made in conjunction with your great Russian allies."

Although the initial assault may not have been made in your own country, the hour of liberation is approaching.

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, NAPLES, June 6--The battle to destroy the German enemy in Italy "continues without pause" and troops of the Fifth army have advanced some five miles beyond the Tiber, allied headquarters announced today.

"Troops of the Fifth army are now crossing the Tiber in many places," said the communiqué, which opened with the words:

"With the capture of Rome the allied armies in Italy have brought another phase of their campaign to a most successful conclusion."

The announcement said that "only weak resistance" was being encountered by the Fifth army vanguards.

NEW YORK, June 6--The London radio, in a broadcast recorded by the federal communications commission, said that King George VI would deliver a special broadcast tonight at 9 p. m. London time (3 p. m. E. W. T.).

NEW YORK, June 6--Gen. Charles De Gaulle has arrived in England, it was announced today in a broadcast from Supreme Headquarters, Allied Expeditionary Force. NBC monitored the broadcast.

LONDON, June 6--The German news agency DNB said in a broadcast shortly before 10 a. m. (4 a. m. E. W. T.) that Anglo-American troops had been reinforced at dawn at the mouth of the Seine river in the Le Havre area.

on a great crusade toward which we have striven these many months," and warned them that they were facing a tough, well-prepared enemy.

Berlin said the "center of gravity" of the fierce fighting was at Caen, 30 miles southwest of Le Havre and 65 miles southeast of Cherbourg.

Caen is 10 miles inland from the sea, at the base of the 75-mile-wide Normandy peninsula.

Heavy fighting also was reported between Caen and Trouville.

One of Berlin's first claims was that the first British parachute division was badly mauled.

General Montgomery, hero of the African desert, was leading the assault of the allied liberation army.

No other allied commanders were announced, for the thousands of battle-trained allied troops, although Gen. Omar Bradley has been in command of American ground forces in England for several months.

Bradley participated in the Tunisian victory.

Thousands of battle-trained American, British and Canadian troops hurled themselves at Hitler's western defenses after months of preparation.

Huge troopship armadas slipped out of English ports in the darkness and sped toward Europe where four years ago almost to the day Britain brought back the last battle-worn defenders of Dunkirk.

The Germans also declared that Calais and Dunkirk, immediately across the English channel from Britain, were under heavy air attack.

Correspondents Called to Headquarters

The German radio gave the first reports of the invasion while correspondents were hurriedly summoned from bed to supreme press headquarters and locked in a press conference room until the communiqué was released several hours after the landings were made.

It was made known at Shaeff that the supreme command felt it necessary to yield the initiative in the war of words to the Germans in order to retain the initiative on land and keep the German high command in the dark as long as possible.

The great allied armadas dwarfed anything yet seen on the sea.

Huge transport planes filled with paratroopers and pulling airborne troops in gliders roared over the German westwall to drop their cargos in the rear.

CARDINGTON MERCHANTS ARRANGE FREE MOVIES

Weekly entertainments to be given Wednesday at Park.

In keeping with a long-established custom, free outdoor moving pictures will be shown each Wednesday evening throughout the summer months in the park at Cardington. As in former years the entertainment will be sponsored by business men and others interested in civic affairs.

The first show will be next Wednesday night when "Abraham Lincoln," starring Walter Huston, will be shown. The entertainment and others throughout the season will start at dusk. On June 14 the feature picture will be "Last of the Mohicans," based on the story by James Fenimore Cooper. Pictures will vary and will include biographies, westerns, comedies, historical, religious and patriotic themes. In addition to the features there will be war information films, Walt Disney comedies and other short subjects. Selections have been made for the first half the season.

The pictures will be shown on a projector furnished by the Luther League of St. John Lutheran church at Windfall. For the opening each week the theme song "Beautiful Savior" and the National Anthem will be used.

Serving as a committee in arranging for the entertainment program are Rev. Harry Eswine, pastor of St. John Lutheran church at Windfall, chairman, Miss Gertrude Mack, librarian at the Cardington library and Lowell Patterson, principal of the Cardington schools.

There is no motion picture house in Cardington.

LETTERS FROM OUR READERS

Editor of The Star:—As I read my Star of May 28 and came to the page dedicated to the memory of Marion county's hero dead of World War II, I was moved by the beautiful prayer and pleased with the tribute until I noticed who sponsored it.

I happen to have a son-in-law on the honor list who was killed serving his country. He did not use liquor nor stand for anything that brought about degradation as liquor is bound to do. I do not see why decent citizens must stand to have their names used in such advertisements of which they are not a part of or do not support. I hope that my name will none of my family will ever be listed in any way with a group of people who handle, sell or in any way have anything to do with liquor or the liquor traffic.

I think it is time for the Christian people of our country to awaken to the fact what liquor is really doing to our young people. It is time Christian people start praying. God may heed their prayers but I just wonder about the liquor dealer's prayers.

I probably have expressed the sentiments of a good many more people; at least I hope so.

Because religion appeals to the heart as well as the head, it offers the best form of mental and spiritual unification and organization.

He continued by saying that we are now living in an age that questions everything — one that might well be called an era of propaganda. One is forced to wonder whether this point hasn't crept into the educational system, he added. He pointed out that in the Catholic school system, religious training etches firmly in the mind of the child a belief in God, his duty to religious obligations and the idea of moral responsibility.

Defines Education

He defined education as that form of social activity whereby the intellectual, moral and physical powers of the immature human being are so developed in the direction of matured minds, as to prepare him for the accomplishment of his life work here, and for the attainment of his eternal destiny later.

He addressed the graduates by saying that their parents had fulfilled their obligation, many through numerous sacrifices, and the pastor and teachers had been untiring in their efforts to give them a religious and educational training so that today they were truly men and women of character. Today they could recognize the essence, purpose and basis of character formation through a systematic training in religion, a training that will function through the entirety of life, he said.

He concluded by saying, "To date your records give every indication that you should become a credit to your homes, to your school and to your church. May our Blessed Mother who has guided you during your sojourn here at St. Mary, be ever with you, so that one day she may triumphantly lead you to her Divine Son, thereby completing the task which she undertook here."

At the close of the address, the closed gates were opened and the graduates filed up the steps to the altar where Father Spickerman presented them their diplomas.

Medals Presented

Gold medals for general excellence were awarded to Ruth Lawler and Leon Lupica and perfect attendance awards were presented to Miss Lawler and Florence McKinney.

The hymns, "Praise Ye the Father," "Gound-Bells," and "Praise Be to Thee," Sister M. Rafael, B. V. M., were sung by the student body. The "Ave Verum," "Elgar" and "Tantum Ergo," Verducci were sung by the students during the benediction. The procession was led by Mendelssohn, the recessional by Kenterer.

The main altar was decorated with white roses arranged in gold vases and lighted candles. Servers were: Thomas Wagner, Richard Schulz, Dan Smith and Robert Caulfield. Torchbearers were: Jack Wensinger, Patrick Armbuster, Kevin Kriaghmire, Van Oss, Paul Cusick, Paul Bray, Edward Murphy and Robert Vane.

"He was severely wounded when a shell burst shattered the plexiglass nose of his aircraft but despite his injuries, he remained at his position and released his bombs upon the objective."

Brigadier General Robert M. Webster made the award.

Flight Officer Temple is a nephew of Mrs. H. A. Markwell of 517 Delaware avenue. His mother, Mrs. Bernice Temple, is with a signal service bureau of the Army at Whitehorse, British Columbia. An account in the Star on March 1, 1944, told of his being wounded and having received an air medal and three oak leaf clusters.

Sgt. Richard A. Beverly, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Beverly of 339 Carmer avenue, has been awarded the Oak Leaf Cluster.

Word from the public relations officer of a South Pacific headquarters states, "By the direction of the President, the Oak Leaf Cluster in lieu of an additional Air Medal was awarded by Lieutenant General Millard F. Harmon, commanding United States Army Forces in the South Pacific Area on May 12, 1944, to Technical Sergeant Richard A. Beverly as crew chief from Sept. 13, 1943 to Feb. 27, 1944."

Robert Wintersteller acted as toasting master, introducing Orlando Tarantelli who gave the welcome with Kent Daum responding. A tribute to Father Spickerman was given by Virginia Bianchi followed by an address by the pastor. The farewell given by Nellie Ann Steinmetz was presented in a unique manner. While Miss Steinmetz recited a parody of the song "Anchors Aweigh," the sophomores hummed the melody. At the conclusion of the verse, the entire class sang the words of the song. Dan McGinnis gave the senior response.

Decorations were in class colors, yellow and white. Favors were miniature graduation caps filled with candy.

Graduation Mass

A graduation Mass with all the seniors receiving Holy Communion was celebrated at 7:30 a.m. followed by a breakfast given in the Harding Hotel ballroom by the sophomore class.

IT'S TEAMWORK THAT DOES IT

The 5th War Loan starts next week!

WHEREVER your invasion forces are fighting—at sea, in the air, on the ground—they're working together for victory. They know that they must depend on each other, for only by coordinated teamwork will they win through to final victory in the earliest possible time.

The Fifth War Loan starts next week. It's going to take teamwork—a lot of it—to put this drive over the top. For we've got a job to do. As the tempo of invasion rises every one of us must mobilize for support of our fighting men.

In every city, town and hamlet men and women like yourself, have banded together as war bond Volunteer Workers, giving their time to taking your subscriptions for bonds. Support them. Give them the kind of teamwork our boys are giving to each other on the fighting fronts!

When your Volunteer Worker calls, double your war bond subscription. It's their job to help raise $16 billions of money for victory during this Fifth drive, $6 billions from individuals like yourself.

Make up your mind to welcome your Victory Volunteer with a friendly smile and an open checkbook—remembering that it's teamwork that does it!

HERE'S WHAT UNCLE SAM OFFERS YOU IN THE FIFTH WAR LOAN

"BEST" LITTLE GRAND CIRCUIT MEETING OPENS THURSDAY

County Fairgrounds Humming With Pre-Race Activity

IT WAS a case of wholesale intention of the sprawling county fairgrounds Saturday and today by countless horses, drivers, trainers and stable hands who will help launch Marion's Little Grand Circuit harness race meeting Thursday. The meet, which is for the benefit of the women's board of the City Hospital, will extend until June 24—a 15-night jamboree of the "sport of kings."

Frank Foster, secretary of the Marion driving association and commander-in-chief of the pre-race meeting, said upwards of 150 horses were quartered in county fairgrounds Saturday and at least a score more were expected today. The Marion plant can accommodate about 225 horses. Approximately 300 horses will race in the 1944 meeting. This means that about 75 horses will have to be trucked elsewhere—the exact location being the Delaware county fairgrounds.

All available stalls at the Marion county fairgrounds have either been filled or reserved by stablemen from all over the country. The barns were expected to be full by today and most certainly by tomorrow—for the opening of the meet is only three days hence. Big stables that have starters in the Marion meet quartered at Delaware are those runned by Eddie Havens of Pinehurst, Tom Barry of Lexington, Ky., and Wayne "Curly" Smart of Delaware. Havens is training for the American League and out falling upon their first western road trip. The Nats dropped a doubleheader to the Chicago Mill stable. Smart is training Evans' Boy, top starter of Walter White Sag yesterday, 6 to 5 in 10 innings, and 9 to 1, and plummeted into the cellar.

Washington now has lost nine of its last 10 games.

Ed. Garnett, with four hits in the opener, and Tom Turner, with a home run and two singles in the nightcap, sparked the Sox to their double win. Jimmy Dykes men now have won six straight and are in the first division.

The St. Louis Browns retained first place in the American loop with a split win against the Athletics while the runner-up New York Yankees divided a bargain 6-6 at Cleveland.

Bobo Newsom, aided by Joe Berry's relief pitching, twirled the A's to a 4 to 3 triumph in the opener. The Browns won the after-piece by the same score when relief pitcher Jack Kramer singled Mark Christian home from second.

Cleveland's largest turnout of the season—27,433—saw rookie Joe Page pitch the Yanks to a 6 to 4 triumph in an 11-inning first game. The Indians took the nightcap 4 to 3 behind the sixth-pitching of Allie Reynolds and Steve Granek.

Big Bill Lee twirled a two-hitter to shutout against the St. Louis Cardinals to give the Philadelphia Phillies a split of their doubleheader. The National league champions won the opener, 9 to 2, behind Harry Gumbert and George Munger.

Pittsburgh swept a twin bill from the New York Giants, 9 to 4 and 7 to 4. The Pirates walloped five homers in the opener, two each by Jimmie Russell and Babe Dahlgren and one by Vince DiMaggio, to give southpaw Fritz Ostermueller an easy win in his first start as a Pirate.

Cincinnati also beat the Boston Braves twice. Gerald Walker's first inning homer won the opener, 1 to 0. The Red Sox combined 14 hits with four Boston errors to take the nightcap, 7 to 3.

Other Stables.

Other prominent stables whose horses have already arrived at the fairgrounds are Byrne, Ferry of Urbana, Van Camp stables of Cincinnati, Baxter stables of Pontiac, Mich., Earl Ross of Canton (10 head), Bob Plaxico of Canton (14 head), Ehart stable of Wauseon, Bl. Shively of Baxter, Kan., Bob Mason of Mt. Vernon, Herman Ross of Dayton (five head), Denny Schell of Shelbyville, Ind. (six head), Avalon stables of Lafayette, Ind. (five head), Sept.

ALLIED INVADERS GAIN BEACHHEADS IN FRANCE

THOUSANDS OF SHIPS CARRIED TROOPS ASHORE

Churchill Describes Huge Invasion Armada in Parliament Today.

By The Associated Press
LONDON, June 6.—Prime Minister Churchill told the House of Commons today that an immense armada of 4,000 ships and several thousand smaller craft carried allied forces across the channel for the invasion of Europe.

Churchill also said that massed airborne landings had been successfully effected behind the Germans' lines.

Reports on Landings

The long ago on the beaches are proceeding at various points at the present time," Churchill said.

The fire of shore batteries has been largely quelled.

He said that "obstacles which were constructed in the sea have proved so difficult as was apprehended."

The prime minister said the American-British allies are supported by about 11,000 first line aircraft, which can be drawn up as needed.

"So far," he said, "the com-

Troopers who are engaged report everything is proceeding according to plan."

"And not a plan," he declared. Churchill said the vast operation was undoubtedly the most complicated and difficult which ever occurred.

Lawnmakers Cheer

To crews of parliament members, Churchill took "formal cognizance of the liberation of Rome," he added.

American and other forces of the Free Army broke through the enemy's lines and entered Rome. The allied troops have been received with joy by the population.

The entry and liberation of Rome means that we shall have easier access from hostile air and sea and center it from the rear. It can't touch it was threatened.

Seaborne landings have been started successfully behind the enemy's lines.

There has already hopes that a surprise has been continued, "and we expect to bring the enemy with a series of surprises, during the course of the fighting."

The weather which is now becoming more and more constantly in density for many days to come and I shall not attempt to say upon its course.

General Hartwell paid high tribute to Gen. Mark W. Clark, Jr., Cheyenne, Wyo., formerly acting commander of this unit.

Gen. Harold G. Jones, Gen. Mark W. Clark, and said: "Commander of the Allies throughout Europe—there is complete confidence in the supreme commander, General Eisenhower, his lieutenants and the command of the expeditionary force, General Montgomery."

There is grim news as well.

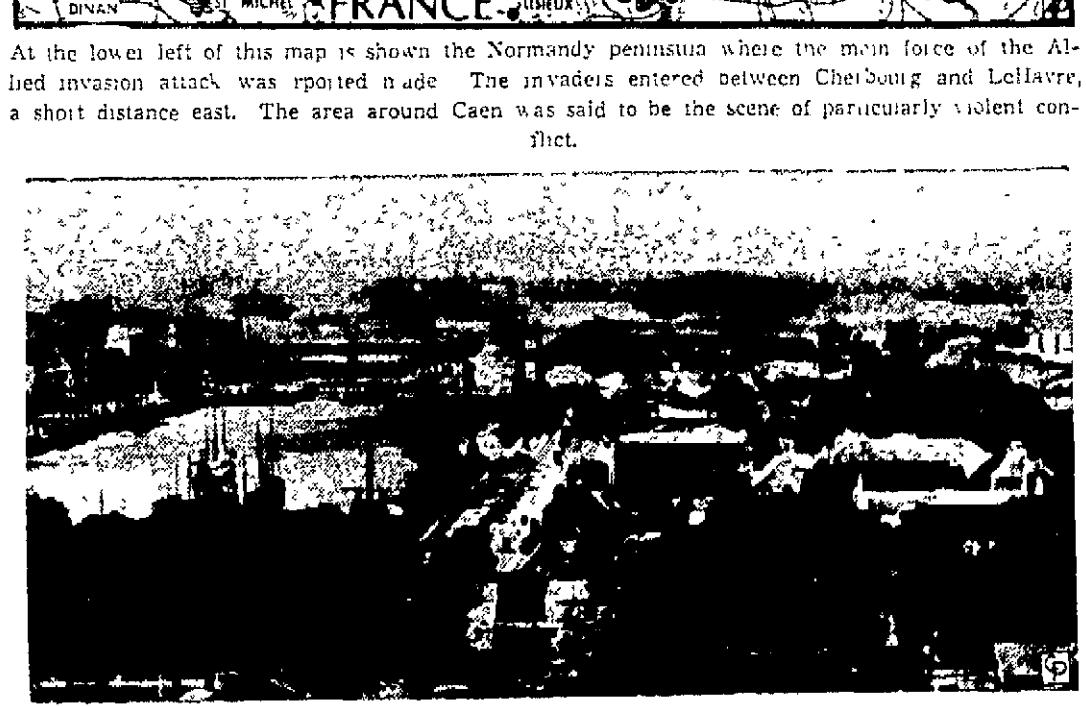

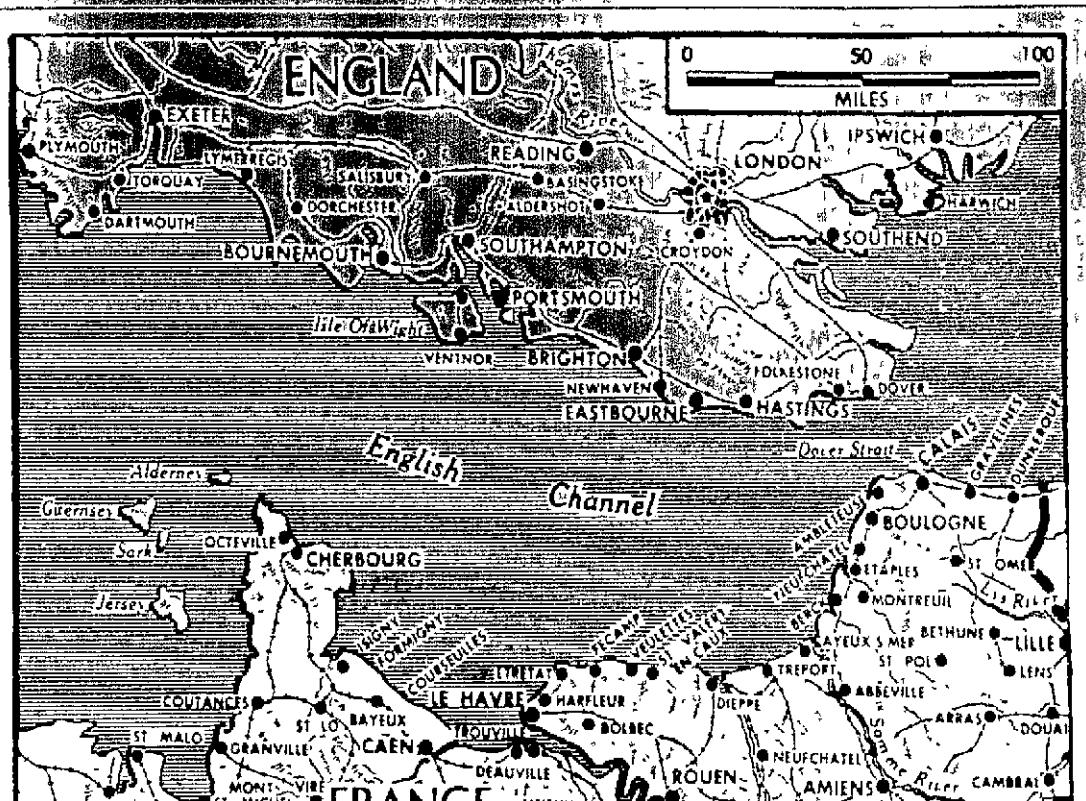

During the battle of the Po River in Italy he said there were about 20,000 men, but the Nazis had about 25,000.

The landing had been good fruit by force, but the divisions "which we have needed else-

PHOTO PILOTS SAY 11,000 Allied Aircraft Back BEACHHEADS FORMED Invasion in "Fair" Weather

By The Associated Press
AN 8TH USAF PHOTO RECONNAISSANCE BASE, June 6.—Allied landing forces have established beachheads on the coast of northern France and are slashing their way inland, the first photo reconnaissance pilots back from the scene of the initial thrust said today.

From a ringside seat only 500 feet above the burning, smoking rim of the continent, two airmen watched the Allies strike the first blow.

One is Lt Col C. A. Shoop, Beverly Hills, Calif., a former Army test pilot who arrived in this theater six weeks ago and became commander of this group yesterday and flew his first mission today.

The other was Maj Norris Hartwell, Jr., Cheyenne, Wyo., formerly acting commander of this unit.

Two things stood out in the air operation launched in support of the landings in northern France. The first was the mass of airplanes the allies were able to put into the sky in weather described as "just fair."

The other was the absence of German resistance.

In a blasting herald of the invasion, the British bomber command sent more than 1,300 of its biggest ships roaring across the channel last night and early today in the heaviest aerial attack (Turn to AIRCRAFT, Page 15).

Powerful U.S. Air Invasion Force Perfected As Miracle Product of American Efficiency

By JAMES J. STREBIC

Associated Press Aviation Editor

America built in about two years the winged fury which has now been flung into support of the Allied invasion.

The speed in assembling such a vast force rivals in awesomeness the serial itself, an air force the like of which had not been dreamed before United States Hitler smashed into Poland with about 1,500 planes, executed the Norway campaign with fewer than 1,600, and pushed through the lowlands with something over 3,000.

When it came Hitler's turn to defend, those figures were dwarfed by the Allied armada, a flying fighting force which counted planes by the tens of thousands, planes which could fly faster and hit harder than anything the Nazis ever built, planes which came from 40,000 factories and many millions of workers.

Small Beginning

The United States entered the war, as Gen. H. H. Arnold, commander of the Army air forces, said, "with planes but no planes."

Of the 3,000 Army airplanes available on Dec. 6, 1941, only 1,157 were suited to combat service. Actually, none of them could stay in the air against 1944 models.

In a matter of hours on Dec. 7, 1941, the Japanese reduced our combat-suited aircraft total to 800, and for some time thereafter whittled it down still further before American production began to swing up.

The Army's only fighter then in mass production was the P-40 Warhawk, a sturdy plane lacking in performance but which then carried and, in improved models, still carries a sizable responsibility.

Bombing was done principally by the C and D models of the B-17 Flying Fortress, the B-25 Mitchell and the A-20 Havoc. Also in service in small numbers were the B-24 Liberator, the B-26 Marauder and the A-24 Dauntless.

The B-17 had first been flown six years earlier, at about the time work was started on the B-24. Being readied for action at the time of Pearl Harbor were the P-38 Lightning, an extremely versatile, high performance fighter; the P-39 Airacobra, which yielded two years later to a much improved version; the P-47 Thunderbolt, high flying slugger which did not get into the air until after the war began and the P-51 Mustang, rated by many the world's best single-engined fighter.

Requirements Rigid

Literally dozens of other warcraft were on drafting boards, but few of them have passed the Army's rigid requirements.

Variety in aircraft was sacrificed to production.

About 10,000 airplanes were built in 1941. The 1943 total was 83,940, and the weight of each plane was nearly double that of the pre-war model.

The early 1944 rate of production was around 110,000 a year with a still greater average weight.

The Army's plans called for pilots and other crewmen to fly those airplanes. Only 696 pilots were graduated in 1941; the total for 1942 was 65,000. In 1941 the Army turned out 601 navigators, 310 bombardiers, but no heavy industrial and economic systems—numerous forces, a mighty development. The air forces training for armed resistance is fully developed system of ground defenses.

Command graduated 13,783 navigators, 12,500 bombardiers, 81,398 aerial gunners, 513,233 technicians and 18,250 others in various classifications in 1943.

Those figures are a simple story of how America built for war while fighting one. During those two years, newly produced planes and air crews were rushed to battle in the Pacific, in Africa and Europe.

The first American fliers in American planes to enter the air war over Europe flew in six A-20 Havocs with a British formation on April 7, 1942. Six weeks later came the first all-American raid—an attack on the Rouen rail yards by a dozen unescorted B-17's. The Fortresses flew nine such missions before losing a plane.

Less than a year later the United States Eighth air force was able to send over a flight of 100 heavy bombers, and in another nine months the offensives were 10 times that large. A few months more and the bombers and their escorting fighters totaled 2,000.

Supply and Speed Provided

The pre-invasion air war had, in addition to production and personnel, another major phase—logistics. This was in two parts, the bulk supply problem, on which all hopes for final triumph rested, and the speed problem. Airplanes solved both.

Land and carrier-based air patrols drove the submarine out of sea lanes jammed with cargo vessels. The Army air transport command and the Navy air transport service covered some 200,000 miles of routes, building airways as they went, flying with the regularity of domestic airlines and the daring of pioneers. They delivered millions of pounds of vital materials on schedules figured in hours instead of weeks.

The Eighth bomber command went into business on Aug. 17, 1942.

United States participation in the air war over Europe had been little more than a token up to that time, and even thereafter it grew out slowly. Not until Jan. 27, 1943, did an American force strike at a target in Germany proper—Wilhelmshaven—and not until more than a year later, Feb. 3, 1944, were American planes seen over Berlin.

The two years of preparation were followed by a mighty expansion in activity.

The December, 1943, volume of bombs dropped by the Eighth air force was 12,000 tons—a third as much as had been dropped in the preceding 16 months. Thereafter the totals spiraled upward.

Many Targets Hit

If Berlin had not seen Yankee planes, they were familiar in plenty of other cities—Bremen, Emden, Wilhelmshaven, Kiel, Vegesack, Schwerin, Hanover, Paris, Antwerp, Trondheim, St. Nazaire, and even Gdynia in the Polish corridor.

The objective of the American air forces, stated officially after the Cassibile conference, was "To accomplish the progressive jeremiad of the German air force itself, a formidable though not too numerous force, a mighty development.

To accomplish the progressive jeremiad of the German air force itself, a formidable though not too numerous force, a mighty development.

Standing in the way of the plan to accomplish the progressive jeremiad of the German air force itself, a formidable though not too numerous force, a mighty development.

The plan for reaching the objectives was:

All Threats Met

"First, hit vulnerable targets to slow the skill of Nazi pilots and the speed and power of Nazi planes. Added to the skill of Nazi pilots gathered to beat down the new and strange devices—airplane force itself and thus bombs, rocket guns, robot planes, lay open the whole of German war. The American air force, working production, transportation and in close coordination with the British, met every new German threat, and by the late summer of 1942 appeared to have made a great stride in reducing Germany's ability to wage war."

Meanwhile, in west was clearly a step toward invasion. The United States Ninth air force was moved from the Middle East and Asia to Britain, where it was reorganized and expanded. It was assigned the task of knocking down the German defending air forces in the early stages of invasion.

THIS IS HOW A MAJOR INVASION IS STAGED

STEP BY STEP, this is the pattern followed by an Allied invasion. To a site, months of bombings of key coastal points have prepared the zero hour; enemy railroad centers have been blasted and every effort has been made to cripple the Axis supply lines; observation squads have made reports on enemy locations and scouts have brought back last-minute reports. Thousands of planes are ready to provide a protective umbrella for the vast invasion force and warships have been assigned their places. When the final signal for the "all out" sounds, the grim and colossal drama is enacted in the manner detailed by the above chart. (International)

Four Years of Skillful And Careful Preparation Lead Up To Allies' Smash Into Europe

BY PAUL KERN LEE
Associated Press Foreign Staff

The initial invasion of western Europe, and most daring and skillful in the history of warfare by any standards, is considered of approximately four years' careful, methodical planning. The Nazi blitzkrieg had Britain's army in flames, but snatched from seemingly total destruction at Dunkirk, the Allies had made plans for the eventual return were being laid.

At the time being, Britain had almost turned itself with the alliance of her home islands against the German aerial blitzkrieg. This September, 1940, was the high point of that battle. Air raids continued, but it was during that period that the Germans themselves realized their aerial forces were greater than the results warranted.

It was in that time, too, that some sort of German invasion of Britain was nipped off. Stories within out months and even years afterward told how hundreds of German invasion barges had been caught and sunk by the RAF. Officially, both Britain and Germany kept mum, but it was obvious that a hastily-prepared invasion program had failed. It served as a warning to Britain that spur-of-the-moment invasion could not succeed.

Britain protected slowly. The Commandos were organized, and for years developed their technique in a series of hit-and-run raids against the German-held continent, gathering information, damaging enemy installations, keeping the Nazi garrisons in a constant state of alertness and alarm.

With American entry into the war after the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor Dec. 7, 1941, the pace quickened from a creep to a gallop.

Yanks Arrive in Ireland

In January, 1942, American forces landed in northern Ireland. They were there for one purpose: to prepare for the ultimate invasion of Europe. Soon they extended to Britain itself; their numbers were constantly augmented.

The Americans formed their own Commando-like striking force, the Rangers.

In August, 1942, combined American-British cooperation of forces, mostly Canadian, stormed all arms reached a new peak.

The Dieppe adventure since has been officially dismissed as a raid in force, a sort of rehearsal, in which is not intended to re-enact on the continent.

Whatever its purpose, it definitely showed the Allied command that the German defenses of western Europe were very strong, stronger perhaps than had been imagined.

After spending all day on the enemy coast, the raiders withdrew. Their casualties had been heavy. Possibly, had the German defenses proved weak or asleep, the invasion might have stemmed immediately from Dieppe. As it was, the Allies continued their preparations and chose other fields for immediate attack.

African Invasion

In November, 1942, the Americans and British invaded French North Africa. They came from Britain and the United States. Their timing was nearly perfect; their plans were nearly late and closely followed; they worked with the French underground. The landings succeeded brilliantly.

In Africa, a green American army got its first seasoning under fire. It learned that there, too, the Germans were cunning stubborn opponents.

Finally, in May, 1943, the last Germans were eliminated from Africa. The Americans, the British and the fighting French had learned to work together.

With every battle, with every new campaign, the Allies learned something new and stored it away until the great invasion of western Europe should call upon all their courage and cleverness and skill.

The smashing capture of the islands of Pantelleria and Lampedusa showed them how air power could be concentrated to obliterate any given stretch of enemy territory.

Capture of Sicily

The invasion of Sicily in July, 1943, taught them still more. It was a successful surprise assault. Sicily fell in 38 days. Afterward, the American chief of staff, Lt. Gen. Walter B. Smith, declared that in some respects Sicily was a more difficult operation than would have been the invasion of western Europe, where he felt that the surprise element could be just as successfully exploited.

He disclosed, too, that some of the more than 3,200 vessels used in that invasion had been prepared and loaded months in advance. It was a tip-off to the long-range, careful nature of Allied staff planning.

Allied forces had worked more closely together in Sicily than was maintained constantly. British and American navies put the concentrated fire and power of their gunners ashore, kept them supplied with a constant string of ships rather than bundles for defense and barges, and maintained them. The storm was gathering, but a resolute, determined position by the frantic now forced the Allies into a defensive crouch into the pre-attack strength of big naval ratios.

Due to the great sea and air distances from the nearest bases, it was in some ways a tougher operation than western Europe might have been, but it showed the growing perfection of allied teamwork.

Careful Planning

All the while, independently yet closely related in timing, preparations continued for the invasion from Britain.

Allied leaders manfully resisted the constant calls of the thoughtless for immediate invasion, and after concentration on other theaters, meanwhile permitting a constant flow of "invasion" speculations and report that obviously gave the Germans the jitters.

German propaganda boasted of the Nazi "festung Europa," fortress Europe, but admitted that the invasion was a sure thing and that it might succeed in establishing its beachheads. The German allies, much of secret weapons, tried to frighten the Allies with tales of tremendous casualties to be suffered.

Meanwhile the Atlantic battle against the submarines went on with better and better results.

There followed the invasions of Italy, and at Salerno on Sept. 9, Great convoys of men and munitions, food and all the weapons of war streamed regularly to Britain.

The Allied air attacks on Germany and on the French coast grew daily and weekly in power and destructiveness. Particular attention was paid to the cross-channel area nearest Britain. But gigantic guns to meet the medium bombers and improved fighter planes, that then had repudiated the air cover, British and planes such as the American commandant, Marshal Erwin Rommel, never faltered, while Mustangs proved their superiority fences in Europe.

A worried Hitler called on his troops ashore, kept them supplied with a constant string of ships rather than bundles for defense and barges, and maintained them. The storm was gathering, but a resolute, determined position by the frantic now forced the Allies into a defensive crouch into the pre-attack strength of big naval ratios.

In a form of total war, the fighting French called on the Allies to invade France as a regular force.

All British was literally up to which they would give aid. The Germans suggested that over the country, coastal areas the Allies had secret weapons were clearly visible. War ready to spring. The Allies games, but no concrete place to pass messages with news that American forces in Britain were training in Britain with new weapons and new and deep new concern in Britain, with new weapons and new and almost untried.

Deep new concern in Britain, with new weapons and new and almost untried.

Admiral of paratroops and planes were to Britain, and it was anticipated that they could assist the American army there. Yet the Germans still moved eastward, Sardinia and even entered Italy, and that was, and the British forces were in danger of sinking beneath their weight.

Thus the invasion was prepared, thus the time ultimately came to "D" hour of "D" day for the invasion on which hangs the hopes of enslaved Europe.

Inside Look at an Oil Company in Wartime

A report to the people of Ohio . . . by The Standard Oil Company (Ohio)

1 IN UNIFORM FOR UNCLE SAM are more than one-third of our regular men employees. Sohio's in the service will find their old jobs, or better ones, waiting for them when they return. One of our greatest concerns is that they shall return to the opportunities and way of life which they are fighting to preserve.

2 OIL IS THE VERY LIFE-BLOOD of America's war efforts—with aviation fuel an especially critical need. Sohio's production of aviation gasoline increased almost 500% in 1942 over the year before and was tripled again in 1943. To accomplish this, Sohio has converted existing equipment and has built new refinery units—all without calling on the government for financial aid.

3 MORE THAN HALF the tonnage of all war materials going to the fighting fronts are products of oil. There are hundreds of these, besides gasoline, fuel oil for war ships, lubricants for engines on land, sea and in the air, oil for medicines and many other products. One example is asphalt for air strips and military roads. Sohio—only 18th in size among oil companies in the U.S.—last year became the nation's third largest producer of asphalt.

4 CRUDE OIL PRODUCTION was a relatively new effort for Sohio in 1943. Expanding our activities, we discovered a number of new fields and brought them into production, thus multiplying our crude oil output at a time when finding new sources of crude is increasingly important to war needs. Much oil remains to be found in the United States, and Sohio plans 90 to 100 wildcat wells in 1944 for discovery of new fields.

5 OIL IS KEPT MOVING by Sohio's extensive use of pipelines and barges, thus saving already jammed rail transportation for other war materials. Today on the Mississippi and Ohio Rivers Sohio operates one of the largest inland water fleets carrying oil in the country. Sohio owns and operates almost 3,000 miles of pipe lines.

6 KEEPING CARS RUNNING AT HOME has been part of Sohio's wartime responsibility. This job has been done in spite of an acute shortage of manpower. We have trained new service station personnel, including many women, and have developed special car-towing services to provide the extra care your car needs to survive the war.

7 ADVERTISING HAS GONE TO WAR. For instance, one-fourth of commercial time on our SOHIO REPORTER radio newscasts since war began has been devoted to our government's programs of conservation, bond buying, blood bank, etc. We are particularly pleased with a letter from the War Advertising Council, saying . . . appreciates thanks for the many ways in which your company has converted so many phases of its advertising to the support of war information campaigns. You have made a material contribution to the war effort."

8 SOHIO'S PERSONNEL is one of the most important continuing responsibilities of any company. Sohio provides unusual and pleasant working relations by offering its employees a wide variety of opportunities with excellent pay, many incentives and a liberal retirement plan. For example, a man who started with Sohio at age 21 and averaged $200 a month income over the length of his service has been retired at 65 with a monthly annuity of approximately $160 a month for life. Almost 600 individuals are now enjoying an comfortable, quiet life on this retirement income.

These Ten Men Direct the Invasion

General Atlas--That's Eisenhower

Truly the global burden being borne on the shoulder of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower makes it easy to compare him to Atlas. The American commander-in-chief of all the Allied forces for the invasion of Europe will be directing the largest-scale military action ever undertaken in the history of mankind. On him depends the success of the second front against Germany. And praise from the enemy is praise indeed! The Germans declare he never launched an assault unless the chances of success are at least 60 per cent sure. The more work throws his way, the more he likes it, say staff officers serving under General "Ike." Speaking of himself, he says he's the "best damned lieutenant colonel in the Army." That was his permanent peace-time rating. Now his permanent rating is major-general.

Uncle Sam's Successful "Spaatzwaffe"

For good reason is the title above applied to Lieut. Gen. Carl A. Spaatz, commander of all American Strategic Air Forces under Gen. D. W. Eisenhower. An advocate of the belief that Germany can be knocked out of the war by air power alone, he is directing the aerial onslaught on the Reich's sources of production. It is his belief that each bomb dropped on a Nazi war plant means that many less American boys killed when the second front invasion becomes a reality. The 52-year-old Pennsylvaniaian hates desk work; would rather be handling a plane's controls. A heavy coffee drinker ordinarily, he consumes quarts of it while his boys are on a mission over enemy territory. He is a great worrier. He is shy and blunt of speech and, say friends, not too hard to beat at poker.

Doolittle Eighth Air Force Chief

Pioneer aviator and one of the greatest flyers of all time, Maj. Gen. "Jimmy" Doolittle is the man who made the once victory-flushed Japanese realize, with a few well-placed aerial bombs, how vulnerable their capital was; that a day of reckoning would come for their annexation that dark day in December, 1941. The sure results of his bomber squadrons baffle the "daredevil" term that is applied to him. His flyers are sure that before they take off on a dangerous mission, everything possible has been done to help them reach their targets. In fact, the new head of the Eighth Air Force often flies the lead plane of the formation. Of short stature, he nevertheless exudes a personality that charms and dominates any group of men. Before the war he was an air sports champion.

Leigh-Mallory RAF Charter Member

A veteran of the Royal Air Force since 1914, when he quit school to fly against the enemy, Air Chief Marshal Trafford L. Leigh-Mallory will be chief of the Allied Air Forces when the second front blow is struck against Hitler's "rootless" fortress. The soft-spoken son of a clergyman, hardly publicized in this country, played a major role in the Battle of Britain, which is recognized as the period that robbed the Luftwaffe of air supremacy. He followed up this major setback at Dieppe when his "umbrella" of fighter planes, taking off from England in shuttle formation, made the Nazis turn tail. About 50 years old, he has few interests outside of his job. "Time for that after we beat the enemy," he says. Leigh-Mallory is noted for his precise handwriting.

Harris Planner of Saturation Raids

If necessity, humaneness must be discarded if the enemy is to be bombed into submission. Such is the belief of Air Chief Marshal Sir Arthur Harris, planner of the "saturation raid" technique used on key German manufacturing cities, of which there are 50 slated for destruction. In the post-war period, when historians will write about this conflict, they undoubtedly will hurl superlatives at the air marshal for his direction of the raid on the Mohne and Eder dams in the Reich, the destruction of which stopped the power that turned the wheels in scores of war plants. Married and the father of a four-year-old girl, his voice turns soft when he speaks of her. He likes the United States, which is natural, since he is a Bourbon drinker. He has a gift for effective phrases.

Omar the Nazi-Breaker "Gets There"

When he graduated from West Point in 1915, the class historian noted that "his most prominent characteristic is getting there." And that seems to be Lieut. Gen. Omar N. Bradley's forte in this war. On May 7, when he was still a major general, he spark-plugged the American Second Corps into Biscay. Forty-eight hours later 25,000 Germans had enough and surrendered unconditionally. This marked the end of Nazi power in Tunisia. His brilliant campaigning now entitles him to wear the three stars of a lieutenant general and the command of all American ground forces when they make their assault on Hitler's European wall. The tall and thin fighting general, born in 1893, celebrated his birthday Feb. 12. Bridge, fishing, hunting and golf are his typical American hobbies.

"Monty" Wrecker of Nazi Reputations

If any man carries on his person a universally recognized personal trademark, it's Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery, newly-named commander of the British ground forces in the invasion of western Europe. Ordinarily a careless dresser, his insignia bedecked black beret the sign of a showman—and his men love him for it. During the early days of the war in Africa, when Field Marshal Rommel's panzer divisions were pushing back the British at will, "Monty" took over the helm. A methodical plan of counterattack was arranged first, hinging on massed batteries of cannon. When the Nazis recovered from their first shock, "Monty's" veteran Eighth Army rose from the gates of Alexandria and drove 1,400 miles into Italy. Hobby: soldiering. Favorite reading: Bible.

Tedder Producer of Air Miracles

The war has hit close to Sir Arthur Tedder, deputy commander in chief under Eisenhower. His eldest son, an RAF fighter pilot, was killed when he rose to meet Nazi planes bombing London. An untiring worker, the air marshal's men proudly refer to him as "The Chief"—and deservedly, for the air-wise Scot can aptly be called the man who made the RAF what it is today. After the twin disasters of Greece and Crete—two blows that almost proved fatal to the British empire—he took over and remodeled the British Middle East Air Command, developed it into one of the world's greatest striking powers. His avocation: painting with water colors. Characteristics of Air Marshal Tedder: quietness, piercing eyes, and sharp humor.

Ramsay Strategy Saved Day at Dunkirk

A badly beaten weaponless British Army of 300,000 men were wedged into the narrow confines of the beach at Dunkirk by a hard-hitting Nazi army. Could they be rescued to fight again? Yes, said Admiral Sir Bertram Home Ramsay, who has just been named to lead the Allied naval forces under General Eisenhower. And save them he did, using a motley collection of boats ranging from small pleasure cruisers to destroyers, all operating under the very muzzles of Nazi guns. Now it is his job to get them back across the channel again, and retreat is something the men won't think of. After 40 years as a sailor, he has acquired that squint that is typical of men who sail the deep waters. Taken from retirement in 1941, he helped plan the convoys for the African expedition.

D'Albiac Hero of Grecian Air War

It was nothing short of a miracle that British flyers in Greece during the early stages of the war were able to accomplish anything. It is possible that the inspiration provided by Air Vice Marshal John Henry D'Albiac is what kept his men going in spite of the fact that they were always heavily outnumbered and flew obsolete planes. But now that he commands the British Tactical Air Force, covering the largest force of fighters and medium bombers in the world, he will show the Germans what happens when the glove is on the other hand. Doughboys will find in him a champion, for it is his belief that air power is strongest when integrated with ground troops. He is a veteran of World War I and a graduate of the Imperial Defense College. D'Albiac wears the DSO.

British Home Fleet's Work in Dark Years Paying Off

By ROBERT RICHARDS
United Press Staff Correspondent

LONDON — Now that Allied invasion troops are finally hitting the shores of occupied Europe, the cost of the raid must go up when Britain destroys the gray grim ships of Britain's home fleet for making the attack a reality.

So far in this war, theirs has been a lonely, unglamorous job with plenty of danger but little chance for battle glory.

Since 1940 these watchdogs have wheeled and maneuvered patiently up and down the North Atlantic. Their task has been two-fold and all-important.

1. To shepherd Allied convoys safely along the perilous northern route to Russia.

2. To keep all enemy surface raiders out of the Atlantic.

Staved Off Defeat

Never for a single moment has this double task been neglected. That is a reason why the British and the Russians were able to stave off final defeat during the long dreary months of disaster. That is why thousands of American soldiers were lined up in Britain for the invasion of the continent.

The home fleet is no spot for glamor-boy fighters. While some naval units face the enemy, aiding the invasion, most home fleet vessels are not getting even a man-sized smell of powder.

Steaming restlessly back and forth through northern waters, some ships guard against a possible suicide flanking attack by Germany's few remaining warships.

Despite long periods of inaction, observers have noted, the home fleet's crews never lose their zest for combat. They keep their edge through constant battle practice, and when the "break" comes, they're ready.

Sunk Bismarck for Hood

This was first demonstrated in May of 1941 after the Hood, pride of the British navy, was smashed by the German battleship Bismarck. Although outranged by the guns of the Bismarck, home fleet units steamed out breathing vengeance. For three days they hounded the Nazi dreadnaught. They left it a hopeless hulk some 400 miles off the French coast, shattered by the guns of a British cruiser.

On other occasions the British bloodhounds did not wait for the enemy to initiate the action.

In September, 1943, two midget subs of the home fleet crept into Aften Fjord in Norway and crippled the battleship Tirpitz as she lay at anchor. A month later, home fleet vessels under Admiral Bruce Fraser steamed within 80 miles of the Norwegian coast in a defiant challenge to the basest enemy raiders. Then the fleet's carrier-based aircraft subjected the German port of Bodø to a terrific pounding.

Victory House War Bond Sales Increase

The total sale of war bonds and stamps for last week amounted to $785.65, which was slightly higher than the preceding week's total of $663.45. This slight increase appeared in spite of the fact that the Victory House was closed the first three days of the week. The sale of bonds alone amounted to $750 and stamps $35.65.

Daily sales were as follows: Thursday bonds $150, stamps $8; Friday bonds $506.25, stamps $14.10; Saturday bonds $83.75, stamps $13.55.

GRANDSON OF MARION RESIDENT PLANE VICTIM

Lt. Talbot M. Malcolm Jr. Killed in Massachusetts Crash.

Word has been received by Mrs. Florence Abbs of 193 Pearl Street, that her grandson, Lt. Talbot M. Malcolm Jr., was one of the 10 Army fliers who lost their lives in the crash of a B-24 bomber early Sunday morning, May 28, at Mount Holyoke, Mass.

The youth, who was a pilot on the plane, has visited in Marion frequently. He is the son of Major and Mrs. Talbot M. Malcolm of Alexandria, Va. His father has just recently returned from duty overseas and is now stationed in Washington, D. C.

The young flier is survived by his parents, two brothers, one of whom is also in the service, and one sister. Full details of the accident and funeral plans have not yet been received by Mrs. Abbs.

WICKARD PICTURES POST-WAR CHOICE

By The Associated Press

WESTERVILLE, O., June 6.—America faces the post-war choice. Secretary of Agriculture Wickard said Monday, of choosing an "expanding economy to promote security" or a "shrinking economy that means a lower standard of living for all except perhaps a privileged few."

Winning the war, Wickard told the graduating class at Oberlein college, "is not merely defeating the enemy on the field of battle. He added:

"It is winning an opportunity to plan and have a country, and

MARIONITE'S HUSBAND GETS HIGH COMBAT AWARD

Capt. Martin J. Gruber Given Distinguished Flying Cross.

The distinguished flying cross, for "extraordinary achievement" in aerial combat, has been awarded to Capt. Martin J. Gruber, husband of Mrs. Alice G. Gruber of 946 South Prospect street. The presentation was made at an 8th AAF Bomber station in England by his group commander, Colonel Hunter Jr. according to protocol.

Capt. Gruber is the pilot of the B-17 Flying Fortress "My Gal." He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin J. Gruber of Olympia Wash., and attended school in Yelm, Wash. He attended the University of Washington and later was a salesman for the Texas Oil Co. in San Francisco. He entered the AAF in April 1942 and received his wings and original commission of second lieutenant in April 1943.

Among Capt. Gruber's missions, we have been over Berlin in Fortress daylight attacks on war plants there, and five to Brunswick, east of Berlin, site of German aircraft factories. He has flown on two of the longest bombing flights on record; to southern Germany, when the target was Messerschmitt fighter plane factories at Regensburg, and to northeastern Germany, when war-making industries at Stettin were the object of the attack. In addition to the DFC, he holds the air medal and four oak leaf clusters.

There's nothing American industry wants more, when peace is ours, than to employ many more people than before the war, and pay them good wages. Only that way may we prevent depression and give our fighting men jobs at good pay within a few months after they return. America wants to do that because then our system of free enterprise may be maintained as we all believe it should be.

Have you any idea of the expense of conversion from war production to peace production, especially when it must be done quickly? You know that it took more than a year for industry to convert to war production. If most companies return to producing what they know best . . . their 1941 products . . . as most of them will in the interest of speed, perhaps they can do the reconversion job in half the time.

But it will still cost plenty.

With the government taking 96 percent, or 95 percent, or 90 percent of industry's profits now . . . and it is . . . where will that money come from?

Even in peacetime, few businesses make all expenses every year. If money isn't laid aside in good years to pay expenses in bad ones, the company will have trouble and there'll be that many fewer jobs.

None of us wants to make money out of war. But we do want to win the peace. How can that happen if industry is not permitted to keep the "seed money" to plow back into postwar research . . . machines . . . materials and wages?

Calm Is Needed As Allies Strive To Gain Anchor

Analyst Sees No Doubt of Success But Admits Hard Days Ahead.

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

The note which came over my bedside telephone in the early hours of this morning was quiet, steady, confident.

"This is THE day," it said simply. "The allies have attacked on the Cherbourg peninsula and eastward. They are well ashore already."

All of us might, I think, take up our cue from the calm confidence of that voice, as this great amphibious division of history gets under way. There are many others, as a result of transfer of units, of which we cannot be certain, but the main Negro worker from the start, and we had better hope that they had been moved yesterday, but on one score we can be certain—there is no doubt of their success.

Officials of the company and United Automobile Workers (CIO) worked all night—their best, heightened by news of the last great battle to extend the war against the Nazi beast. As General Eisenhower put it to his boys, when they said they were unable to find acknowledged leadership in the protest against mixing Negro and white workers.

How many actually were striking was a matter of conjecture. Company officials reported the main assembly line in the center shop, from which complete engines finally leave for final inspection and delivery, had stopped dead and th' nothing would come off the line today.

Some foundry and sub-assembly units still were functioning, they said.

Officials of the United Automobile Workers Union (CIO) termed the work stoppage as "provoked by a handful of irresponsible individuals, and a blow to the war effort."

F. L. Inius of Columbus, sub-regional CIO director, issued a statement early today on behalf of the union in which he condemned the action of the instigators.

1,000 CIO Steelworkers on Strike at Timken

By The Associated Press

CANTON, O., June 6.—The Timken Roller Bearing Co. reported today nearly 1,000 CIO United Steelworkers of America left their jobs in a seniority dispute in the plant's grinding department.

A company spokesman said the strike began last Friday in a small division. He said the first stoppage resulted from a dispute over removal of grinding machine from the shop, and spread when seniority issues became involved.

Meanwhile millions of enslaved people are waiting anxiously, prayerfully, for General Eisenhower's signal to rise and smile Hitler. The commander in chief is holding them in leash lest premature uprising cost lives.

Hitt Toughest Spot

The allied high command has chosen—as this column has so often predicted—to hit western France at the rough spot, right in the teeth of Hitler's strongest defenses. It was the logical thing to do, for our forces must be based in their main base—and that base is in England. So we are going at it the hard way in the beginning, but it will be the easiest in the long run.

This first allied thrust, according to the Germans, is into the fertile plain at the base of the Cotentin, or Cherbourg peninsula. In the midst of this is the ancient city of Caen, about which the opening struggle swirls. It lies close to the valley of the Seine, 140 miles west-northwest of Paris. It's an old battle ground, for Edward III captured and pillaged Caen in 1346.

If we can segregate the peninsula, it will provide a most magnificent base for operations, since it has the great port of Cherbourg, which is connected with Paris by a main railway. Once established on this peninsula, the allies will sweep in towards the French capital and then on

Infantry, Special Weapons Spearhead Invasion Forces

By The Associated Press

HEADQUARTERS EUROPEAN THEATRE OPERATIONS, June 6 (UPI)—There are 30 men in an assault section—29 enlisted men and one officer. This is the capacity of some of the brave soldiers in the assault boats, and it is also the most convenient size for a job only for the brave—made the initial land attack on the beach. It is the job of the first men to break through the mine fields and set up lines with special tractions. Assault tactics, perfected in North Africa, Sicily and Italy, will be used, and American soldiers have a wonderful weapon—British torpedoes, which blows a wide hole through the wire.

Then the other members of the team follow through the wire, and move up the beach.

Bazookas Effective

One of the most dramatic actions of the assault is carried out by the rocket emitters, firing the famous bazookas. Their mission is to attack the pillbox apertures to silence enemy fire, and the accuracy of American rocket gunners is remarkable.

The climax of the entire operation is played by the soldier with the flame thrower and the man with the demolition charge.

As soon as one pill box blows the entire section moves forward for another attack. During a landing operation these tactics are repeated by many squads along a considerable front—there will be at least one division in line, and probably more.

Special Weapons

Originally, the reduction of fortifications was considered a job for engineers. However, after some experiences it became apparent it would be more effective to train infantry with special engineer weapons and this was the technique used in Europe.

The preparation is provided by artillery, by naval guns, by air bombardment and by water-proofed tanks firing hull-down in the water.

Marion Soldier Suffers Slight Wound in Italy

Charles H. Kannel was slightly wounded on May 24 in Italy, according to a telegram from a Marion resident, Mr. Louis Kannel, of 1602 Marion Street. His details have not been received.

With the exception of three months he has been in the service 18 months. Before entering the service he was employed at the Marion steel Stovall Co.

A brother, Mr. R. H. Kannel, is in the Army. Another brother, William, is stationed in the Atlantic.

PLANE WORKERS IDLE ON D-DAY

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, June 6—Production of finished airplane engines at the CIO United Aircraft Corp. plant at 16th and Springwood was stopped today.

At least 12,000 employees were absent from the plant because of that reason, as this greater than phenomenal division of history gets under way. There are many others, as a result of transfer of units, of which we cannot be certain, but the main Negro worker from the start, and we had better hope that they had been moved yesterday, but on one score we can be certain—there is no doubt of their success.

Officials of the company and

United Automobile Workers

(CIO) worked all night—their best, heightened by news of the last great battle to extend the war against the Nazi beast. As General Eisenhower put it to his boys, they said they were unable to find acknowledged leadership in the protest against mixing Negro and white workers.

How many actually were striking was a matter of conjecture.

Company officials reported the main assembly line in the center shop, from which complete engines finally leave for final inspection and delivery, had stopped dead and th' nothing would come off the line today.

Some foundry and sub-assembly units still were functioning, they said.

Officials of the United Automobile Workers Union (CIO) termed the work stoppage as "provoked by a handful of irresponsible individuals, and a blow to the war effort."

F. L. Inius of Columbus, subregional CIO director, issued a statement early today on behalf of the union in which he condemned the action of the instigators.

1,000 CIO Steelworkers on Strike at Timken

By The Associated Press

CANTON, O., June 6.—The Timken Roller Bearing Co. reported today nearly 1,000 CIO United Steelworkers of America left their jobs in a seniority dispute in the plant's grinding department.

A company spokesman said the strike began last Friday in a small division. He said the first stoppage resulted from a dispute over removal of grinding machine from the shop, and spread when seniority issues became involved.

Meanwhile millions of enslaved people are waiting anxiously, prayerfully, for General Eisenhower's signal to rise and smile Hitler. The commander in chief is holding them in leash lest premature uprising cost lives.

Hitt Toughest Spot

The allied high command has chosen—as this column has so often predicted—to hit western France at the rough spot, right in the teeth of Hitler's strongest defenses. It was the logical thing to do, for our forces must be based in their main base—and that base is in England. So we are going at it the hard way in the beginning, but it will be the easiest in the long run.

This first allied thrust, according to the Germans, is into the fertile plain at the base of the Cotentin, or Cherbourg peninsula. In the midst of this is the ancient city of Caen, about which the opening struggle swirls. It lies close to the valley of the Seine, 140 miles west-northwest of Paris. It's an old battle ground, for Edward III captured and pillaged Caen in 1346.

If we can segregate the peninsula, it will provide a most magnificent base for operations, since it has the great port of Cherbourg, which is connected with Paris by a main railway. Once established on this peninsula, the allies will sweep in towards the French capital and then on

HEADQUARTERS EUROPEAN THEATRE OPERATIONS, June 6 (UPI)—There are 30 men in an assault section—29 enlisted men and one officer. SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, June 6—As the battle opening the western front raged in northern France, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower occupied a lonely post on this side of the channel.

LONDON, JUNE 6.—The Paris radio today broadcast an appeal by Marshal Petain to Frenchmen to refrain from actions "which would call down upon you tragic reprisals."

He called on officials, railwaymen and workers to remain at their posts—where they would serve the German military machine. "Do not listen to outside voices calling on you not to listen to our decrees," he said.

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, June 6—More than 640 naval guns ranging from four to 16 inches in size are bombarding the beaches and enemy strongpoints in support of land forces, it was announced today.

DOVER, ENGLAND, JUNE 6—Big guns on the French coast opened fire across the Strait of Dover shortly after mid-day today. A salvo of four shells was seen to explode.

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, June 6—German opposition in all quarters was less than expected it was learned at headquarters tonight, and an optimistic tone was evident. It was disclosed that allied naval losses had been "very, very small." American warships, particularly one battleship, moved close in to the French shore and with the help of the air forces virtually silenced the coastal guns at the landing beaches.

Marion Star Stake Highlight of Race Opening Card Thursday Night

Two $300 Races Also on Tap for Inaugural Session.

THE "Marion Star Stake," a closed event in Marion, got the three-race card when all remaining drivers of all Marion's Little Grand Circuit meet at the Marion harness track Thursday night, starting at 8:15. The Marion meet is expected to be the biggest Marion ever had, and exciting Saturday night, June 24.

The Star stake has a purse of $1,000 and will be the first race on the opening card. The second race, a $300 purse, will be the 12 trot and the third and final race will be the 18 pace, a booty of $300. One other star night with a purse of at least $1,000, has been arranged by Frank Fetter, secretary of the Marion Trotting Association and racing director.

GALION MAY GET BIG LEAGUE

Tentative plans of Charles S. "Chu" Skelley, Galion sports promoter are realized, citizens of that community will have the privilege of seeing two big league teams play right in their own front yard. Skelley is completing arrangements for an all-major league game at Galion's Hesse park at 5 o'clock July 17. Present plan call for the two St. Louis big league teams—the Cards and Browns—to meet in the exhibition tilt.

The proposed game will be conducted under the auspices of a group of prominent Bucyrus men for the benefit of soldiers stationed at Camp Millard. It will be played on the day following the annual major league all-star game—an open date on the schedule of the clubs of both the National and American circuits. The Cards and the Browns are the likeliest possibilities inasmuch as the Red Birds of Billy Southworth will be enroute from St. Louis to New York on July 17, and the Browns will be traveling from Cleveland to St. Louis. This would make a game convenient for both clubs.

Skelley promoted a similar game in August of the 1941 season when the Browns and the Fremont Green Sox of the Ohio State league met at Hesse park. The St. Louis club won, 6 to 5. A number of years ago, Skelley was in charge of an exhibition game at Akron matching the New York Giants and Washington Senators. A crowd of 20,000 turned out to see the Giants eke out a 1 to 0 triumph.

Both the managements of the Cards and Browns have given their assent to staging an exhibition tussle at Galion. Reportedly the only thing that's holding things up is the sanction of Judge Kanesaw Mountain Landis, baseball's highly-respected, firm czar.

You can bet that many Marion and vicinity fans would jump at the chance to see such a game at Galion. Many baseball enthusiasts from here attended the game at Galion three years ago. Probably even more would see the game this year because big league baseball entertainment in wartime comes mighty infrequently. With only 22 miles to travel, Marionites could make the trip to Galion without much difficulty in the matter of gasoline and tires.

IN LINE with the policy of keeping local athletic fans posted on the doings of former coaches now in the armed services, here's a little information of Pvt. Vic Dorris, who resigned his position as head Harding High school football mentor and physical education supervisor in March after a year and half of service. Vic's still at Camp Fannin, Tex. and still as active as ever in athletics. At the latest compilation of statistics, Dorris ranked third in hitting in the Camp league with a .625 mark. He had five hits in eight trips to the plate. (Turn to EVERYTHING, Page 13.)

Shovel-Cooler Game at Metal Products Field Heads Softball Opening Tonight

What many fans, players and managers earnestly believe will be Marion's most successful softball season in the last decade will begin at 1941 baptism tonight with three games involving all six teams in the top-flight Industrial League. Thursday night, the season's second set of flags will be staged with three games on tap in the six squad Commercial loop.

Headlining the opening night of the campaign tonight will be the Marion Steam Shovel-Universal Cooler game on the Marion Metal product diamond. These two teams are termed "the teams to beat" in the Industrial league.

Steam Shovel rates this title because of the many stars of proven ability on its roster while Cooler is considered for the championship since it won the Industrial league and city titles last season.

In other industrial games to-night Huber's Rollers, not far behind Shovel and Cooler in pre-season predictions, and General Excavator meet at Garfield park and Commercial Steel and Fairfield Engineering set off the diamond fireworks at McKinley park. In the Commercial league Thursday night, Sandwich Bar, pre-campaign favorite for the title and DeMolay meet on the Garfield diamond. Co. M. of the Ohio State Guard and Isaly Dairy trade base hits at Lincoln park and Waldo and Marion Metal Products each at McKinley. All games will get underway at 6:15 and will run seven innings.

COAL DEALERS TO LIMIT DELIVERIES

Distribution of Available Supply Sought.

Local regulations limit amount of coal that can be sold to civilian consumers during summer months were adopted by the Marion Coal Association met Monday evening at Harding.

Order issued by the administration provides consumer may receive 75 percent of his annual requirements less the amount of coal he had on hand April 1 this year. Thus, if a person ordinarily used 12 tons, and had three tons on hand as of April 1, he would be limited to delivery of six tons up to Oct. 1.

After a survey of the probable amount of coal to be available this summer, the Marion dealers decided on a policy to provide the best assurance for an equitable distribution of the coal in sight.

Their decision was that it will not be feasible to deliver during the summer months more than 50 percent of the requirements of their consumers.

They explained that if the supply of coal is increased, the dealers will increase deliveries accordingly.

Orders for season requirements that have been partly filled will be held open, and the balance of the order delivered whenever the supply of coal permits.

The dealers asked the public to cooperate in the new program, and said that drivers will be instructed not to unload coal to consumers who have already received their quota.

Auto Owners Keep City Firemen Busy

Four alarms were answered by Marion firemen Monday within 5 hours and all were in response to calls from car owners.

The first at 2:28 p. m. to the corner of Oak and Silver streets came when a short circuit in a battery cable resulted in a fire causing about $5 damage. Miss Mary Alice Conrad was owner of the car. The run was made in the chief's car.

Second alarm to 141 South Prospect street was at 2:37 p. m. from Central station washed gasoline from the gutter which had leaked from the tank of a car owned by Frank Moffett of Cleveland. Sun caused the contents to expand and overflow.

A discarded cigarette burned the rear seat cushion of a car owned by Harold Robinson of 241 North Greenwood street and firemen answered the alarm on foot at 7:20 p. m. to 209 South Prospect street. Loss was estimated at about $20.

The last run at 7:42 p. m. was made in the chief's car to the city parking lot where a short circuit in the wiring of a car owned by D. H. Martin of South Prospect street caused a small blaze. The fire was out on arrival. Damage was estimated at about $20.

The Navy announced yesterday that prowling American submarines had sent six transports and 10 cargo vessels to the bottom of the Pacific and Navy planes got two more in the Truk area.

In land fighting meantime, six Japanese columns tightened on Changsha, key city on the Han-Kow-Canton railway in China's Hunan province. Hunan's governor, Gen. Hsueh Yueh, said "the fate of the nation depends upon the outcome of the present battle."

In the southwest Pacific, American invaders of Biak Island in the Souton group off Dutch New Guinea outflanked the Japanese defenders and cut in on the Mokmer airfield from two directions.

Nineteen enemy planes were destroyed in corrugated cardboard wrapped in airtight containers.

Medics give transfusions in the field by sticking the wounded man's rifle, bayonet down, into the ground and using the grip to hang the blood containers.

Invasion Weapons

The Bayonet

AP Features

Essentially a weapon for hand-to-hand combat, the bayonet is the trademark of the infantry soldier—though it has been equally effective for airborne or parachutist troops who are flown into combat areas to do infantrymen's work. Simple, primitive, the bayonet still is a fear-inspiring tool in the hands of a well-trained man.

Recently, the preference of the American soldier has been for a shorter, sharper and sturdier bayonet such as the 10-inch blade weapon now being supplied to him. The standard bayonet has a blade 15.6 inches long, sharpened on the lower edge, and equipped with a socketed handle which snaps securely to the end of an M1 Garand or Springfield .30 caliber rifle. In the field, the bayonet also serves the soldier as a tool of a thousand uses.

U. S. PLANES SINK JAP WARSHIP, FREIGHTER

By The Associated Press

Destruction of Japan's dwindling seapower mounted today with Gen. Douglas MacArthur's announcement of the sinking of a destroyer and a freighter—losses which boosted the enemy's total to 20 ships reported in two days.

Liberator bombers, blasting the southern invasion road to the Philippines, spotted the Japanese destroyers of Halmahera and the freighter was bagged by attack planes in New Guinea waters.

Other planes from MacArthur's command left a second enemy destroyer dead in the water and damaged two other supply ships.

The Navy announced yesterday that prowling American submarines had sent six transports and 10 cargo vessels to the bottom of the Pacific and Navy planes got two more in the Truk area.

In land fighting meantime, six Japanese columns tightened on Changsha, key city on the Han-Kow-Canton railway in China's Hunan province. Hunan's governor, Gen. Hsueh Yueh, said "the fate of the nation depends upon the outcome of the present battle."

SCHOOL BOARD GRANTS LEAVES

Three Teachers, Librarian Get Leaves of Absence: Seven Resign.

Payment of bills, resignations and appointment of teachers and principals looking to the 1944-45 school year were matters of business considered by the Marion Board of Education at its meeting Monday afternoon in the administration building.

Upon the recommendation of Sup't E. E. Holt, leaves of absence were granted Miss Eloise Coffman, high school instructor, and Miss Virginia O'Dowd and Mrs. Dorothy Johnson elementary teachers, and Miss Miriam Moses, librarian at Harding High school, and the following appointments were approved: Mrs. Betty Smith, Miss Grace Epler and Mrs. Clara Messenger, elementary and Mrs. Wendell Townley, junior high school.

In the field, the bayonet also serves the soldier as a tool of a thousand uses.

WOUNDED MARION SOLDIER HOME ON FURLough

Bernard Amrine To Be Home 22 Days

Bernard Amrine, radio technician 15th grade, arrived home Sunday to spend a 22-day furlough with his wife, Mrs. Helen Amrine of 225 Silver street and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Amrine of 508 North Main street. In service more than two years, he suffered a shrapnel wound in the right arm while on field duty in Africa. According to word received by his parents, last June he was wounded on May 1, 1943. After his recovery he was transferred to Italy before being given his furlough.

At the completion of his furlough he will report to a base in North Carolina for reassignment.

Buck Sheep Knocks Child Near Radnor Under Tractor

Barbara Sparks, 4, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Sparks, Radnor, rural route 1, was severely injured at 6:30 last night when she was run over by a tractor in a field near the barnyard of her home.

She had been following the tractor driven by her father. He drove out of the barnyard into the field. Leaving the tractor, he drove a flock of sheep to the far end of the field. When he started the tractor again Barbara was about 10 feet away from its side. A buck sheep returned unnoticed by the father and knocked Barbara under the tractor. She was taken to the hospital in an ambulance. She suffered a possible skull fracture and lacerations on the left side of her face. Her condition is reported fair.

Man Near Cardington Injured by Tractor

Hiram Cobourn suffered a broken leg on his 50th birthday yesterday afternoon at about 2:30 when he was run over by a tractor in the barnyard of his farm near Cardington. He had been working around the tractor and thought it was out of gear. When he stood in front of it to crank it, it started to move forward. Mr. Cobourn jumped to one side and one leg was run over by a wheel. The tractor ran through three fences before being stopped by a ditch.

Mr. Cobourn was able to crawl across the road to the yard of his home and from there he was taken to City hospital in an ambulance. He was reported to be resting well today.

Allied Air-Borne Troops Fill Sky During Invasion

By The Associated Press

A U. S. FIGHTER BASE IN BRITAIN, June 6.—In the dawn of American transport planes and gliders carrying paratroopers and airborne troops flew from British bases towards the French coast. It was about 3 a. m. (11 p. m. Monday, Eastern War Time.)

"They're going over as thick as flies," an American fighter pilot just before he, too, flew off on a different assignment — patrolling the French coast to protect Allied land, sea, and air operations.

"The sky was black with them as they headed for France above scattered clouds," reported Lt. Ralph Santasturo, 9501 239th St., Bellmore, N. Y., a Thunderbolt pilot.

"Big red flares and flashes" were spotted in the distance by Lt. Duane Bunge, 219 East Hennepin Ave., Minneapolis, Minn., who figured they came from shellings on the French coast.

Squadrons of fighter pilots patrolled the French coast in endless relays to "run interference" for the big bombers—RAF Halifaxs and Whitleys and U. S. Liberators—which were searching for Nazi submarines off shore to keep the channel open for Allied naval craft.

"We were acting as a buffer," said Lt. Thomas Hamilton, 1800 Southwest 11th St., Miami, Fla., a fighter pilot. "But we didn't see a thing except bad weather. I don't think the Huns could get off the ground. If they had there would have been a general ratrace through the clouds for there was a thick overcast up to 7,000 feet."

KENTON WOMAN DIES

LOVE'S FAIR HORIZON

By ADELE GARRISON

I HAVE schooled myself, to course, of the events of this most eventful day, beginning with our meeting at the train of arrival here this morning. I am still serving the government intelligence service, but, to the present moment, I have, but this latest instruction of "Tell him 'hi' if possible, I have a change of procedure set me up with to see him at the earliest opportunity. I have no possible present what would be best.

"But you just told me!" I of course, responded. He faltered.

"I know I did," Hugh said smugly. "I told you that you were to sit down nothing. He stopped and looked at me to sit down nothing. What I really meant was that you were to sit down nothing which would be taken back to you fully." He carried out of this room. That said, what it is a long story, and ever notes you make will be left you are pressed for time. But here, and from the moment you please believe me, leave here you will have to depend on your memory alone for what I have to tell you.

"I stopped him with a protesting wish to tell your father. "You forget?" I said, "what I wish to tell your father?"

"Memory Poor."

"See you," he went on. "I have walked with my father for many years."

His lips twisted into a sudden smile. "Used to Walking."

"I had forgotten that you are the most skillful claim agent in attendance at your birth and, then your mother's years of training perfected it to an instrument used to walking," he said. "The Chow had the most skillful claim agent in the world packed off the streets of New York, and Jefferson memorial in the nation's capital, the next man so honored to the genius who first thought of combining chocolate with ice cream. A small and monumental leap of the imagination!

The bakers of the ice cream cone have themselves no mean nutritional value. They are a triumph of the baker's art. They remain crisp under melting ice cream so are better than a paper carton

I wondered whether the word "careless" with words.

"Weeks" should be translated "Are you telling me?" I quoted.

"days" or "months," but did not with emphasis, and both he and I linger on the question, for he was Lee Chow laughed about.

"No," he answered dryly. "I going on with his explanation, and I dared not miss a syllable of it. I didn't imagine you need any fresh information on the subject. And

Wrote in Longhand

"Therefore," he said, "I am dictating these bits of memorandum to you, and I wish you would write them out in longhand—as I remember, you write a clear, beautiful script—and then I wish you would read the figures I give you back to Lee Chow, so that he can correct me if he thinks I am wrong in any particular."

"Then, if we agree they are correct," he concluded, "you will take them, and then I will destroy the notes, secure in the knowledge that whenever I wish to recall them, I shall have only now to ask you to repeat what I am now going to tell you."

"I hope I shall not fail you," I said fervently.

"I wish I were as sure of Heaven as I am that you will not," he said, and I bent quickly to the little notebook which I always carry with me.

"Don't begin to jot things down until I give you the signal," he said quickly. "These first few words are simply explanatory.

Father Knows

"Your father knows," he went on, "in a general way, what have been doing. But I have had no opportunity to communicate with him for months. Tell him, of
